Peter Prater new staff member of Frequentis UK

Building on its considerable success in UK public safety, Frequentis continues to grow its team in the UK with the addition of Pete Prater in the role of Key Account Manager.

Pete, who is chair of BAPCO's South West and South Wales Region, will be responsible for Frequentis' relationship with the Metropolitan Police Service where it has secured significant contracts for the deployment of ICCS and APLS technologies.

John Gurney, Managing Director of Frequentis UK Limited said "Our Installed Business Base covering a large number of high profile customers across five market sectors, places us in a unique position over our competitors, by enabling us to pass on experiences across these diverse area's. Peter's appointment strengthens our team in public safety".

Pete added "I have been seeking a challenging role at the heart of UK public safety for some time and am extremely pleased to be joining Frequentis in this important role and working with MPS colleagues towards a safer London".
