

Rolf Unterberger

EXECUTIVE BIOGRAPHY

Rolf Unterberger: Member of the Executive Board of Frequentis AG, Vienna, Austria.

Born on 23 December 1966 in Zurich, Switzerland, Rolf Unterberger graduated in Mechanical Engineering from the Klagenfurt Higher Technical Institute in Austria and also studied Industrial Engineering at Mittweida University of Applied Sciences in Germany. His career is characterised by more than 20 years of professional experience in various senior management positions, and his extensive international expertise is of particular note. For example, he spent six years in general and sales management in Beijing/China and Jakarta/Indonesia.

Prior to joining Frequentis AG, Rolf Unterberger spent three years with Accenture (a global management consulting, technology and outsourcing company) as an executive partner and managing director based in Munich/Germany. This allowed him to gain additional insights into various businesses and operating models, but also to build on both his methodological skills and his experience with increasing business efficiency.

On February 2012, Rolf Unterberger was appointed to the Frequentis AG executive board. He assumed responsibility for sales and marketing, thus succeeding Dr Christian Pegritz, who will retire from the board later in the year. The new board appointment ensures continuity, particularly in terms of corporate development and direction. This continuity is reinforced by a period of cooperation between Mr Unterberger and Dr Pegritz lasting several months, which will also ensure a seamless transition of authority.

"The excellent achievements of recent years have built a strong basis for Frequentis to grow the company further. One of my clear goals is to further expand our international business to secure an even stronger global presence and accelerate the growth potential of the Frequentis Group", comments Mr Unterberger on his new role as an executive board member.
