

FREQUENTIS is nominated for the European Small and Mid-Cap Awards 2020

Frequentis has reached the shortlist of the “Star of Innovation” category at the annual European Small and Mid-Cap Awards which will be held virtually on 16 November during the European Commission’s SME Assembly. The nomination is based on Frequentis being a newly listed mid-cap company that places innovation at the centre of its strategy for business development by introducing innovative technology to the market or using innovative techniques in its day to day operations.

“Frequentis is honoured to be considered for the category “Star of Innovation”, which in particular recognises our growth potential following our IPO”, says Frequentis CEO Norbert Haslacher.

The Awards, launched in 2013, were established by the European Commission to recognise some of Europe’s smaller listed companies identified through four varying. EuropeanIssuers, who represent listed companies and the Federation of European Securities Exchanges (FESE), who represent the stock exchanges, are the co-organisers of the event.

Frequentis was shortlisted from some 20 nominations from 10 countries, listed on different European stock exchanges. The winner is decided by an independent, high-level jury, moderated by the European Commission, consisting of representatives from academia, asset management, brokerage, and the media.

Florence Bindelle, the Secretary General of EuropeanIssuers said: “Supporting small and medium enterprises and equity financing are essential to fuel Europe’s economy. This acquires even greater importance in light of the current crisis triggered by the COVID-19 crisis. Frequentis has brought up impressive innovations within the business sectors Air Traffic Management and Public Safety & Transport. We congratulate the company for its nomination.”

Rainer Riess, the Director General of FESE, added: “Access to finance through public markets is essential not only to allow companies to grow, but also the positive effect it has thereafter on the economy. It is rewarding to see companies like Frequentis excel and grow after listing on Deutsche Börse. The Awards are a great platform to showcase these companies and commend their work. Companies such as Frequentis are part of the backbone of the European economy and are vitally important in supporting growth. Congratulations to them on this nomination.”
